

Tsukuba Medical Laboratory of Education and Research(TMER)

TMER is developing the clinical laboratory testing in cooperation with University of Tsukuba Hospital. It provides revolutionary educational and research-related support services involving the most advanced clinical specimen-testing laboratories, and aims to nurture highly skilled, practical medical technologists across the country.

University of Tsukuba Hospital and LSI Medience Corporation have joined forces to launch this business, consisting of the two business organizations, TMER & Tsukuba i-Laboratory, and provide services in cooperation with the Association of Medical Technologists, and related regional organizations.

Education support services about the clinical medicine

Public lectures, workshops, lecture classes, co-sponsorship of projects, etc.

Medical technologist life-long education services

Various education programs for newcomers as well as experienced medical technologists

Research support services

Cooperative research with medical facilities and related companies using clinical specimens

Clinical laboratory testing services

Entrusted with laboratory analysis tasks by the University of Tsukuba Hospital, and other local related medical facilities

2-1-17 Amakubo Tsukuba Ibaraki 305-0005 Japan